

Patient Voices Network

Help make BC's health care system better!

PVN provides volunteer opportunities to make your voice heard and have a real impact on improving quality of care.

JOIN OUR COMMUNITY

We are patients, families and caregivers working together with health care partners to improve our health care system.

Working together results in improved patient safety, better health outcomes, reduced health care costs, and better decision-making. It leads to better care experiences for patients and care providers.

YOU CAN PARTICIPATE IN NUMEROUS WAYS

Each volunteer opportunity is unique and depends on the needs of a particular project led by a health care partner. For example, you might sit on a working group, help develop a program or resource, or share the patient experience with care providers.

Local opportunities will let you improve care in your community, while provincial opportunities might impact patients across British Columbia. Before participating, you'll know an opportunity's time requirements as well as whether you will be asked to participate in person, through a teleconference or online.

Each volunteer opportunity is a chance to make health care better by creating a partnership between patients and health care partners that is guided by more information and diverse perspectives.

“My experience as a patient voice contributing to the redesign of the pre surgical screening department of Royal Inland Hospital was stunning...It was an impressive process, and as a patient contributing, I was welcomed, heard and appreciated.”

Janet L Whitehead, Volunteer

YOU CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Together, patients and health care partners know best how to improve health care. If you join the Patient Voices Network as a Volunteer, you will be able to participate in projects that aim to make health care better.

“The volunteers keep us focused on the patient as the centre of all our improvement efforts. Our program is much stronger because of their input.”

Agnes Black, Providence Health Care
