

Research Skills Workshop

Patient Journey Mapping & Patient-Oriented Research

Join Us
June 8, 2019
9:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.
UNBC Terrace Campus

Lunch will be provided.

Facilitated by:

- Lee Cameron, Physician QI Coach
- Rebecca Schuss, MSW Student
- Tamara Reichert, BC Support Unit Northern Centre

Hosted by:

- Chelsea Pelletier, PhD
- Denise Jaworsky, MD, FRCPC

We are pleased to invite you to a research skills workshop on patient journey mapping and patient-oriented research. In this workshop, participants can expect to learn:

- how patient journey maps are used in health research
- how to create a patient journey map that lays out the steps a patient takes to navigate the healthcare system
- what patient-oriented research is and how to meaningfully engage patients as partners in health research

Target audience is community members, researchers, health care providers, students, and individuals interested in health research.

To RSVP and share dietary restrictions: Email healthresearchnw@unbc.ca