

Do I have a true allergy to penicillin?

We need your feedback -
Help us improve!
<https://bit.ly/2YeMcJO>

Up to 95% of people with a penicillin allergy do not have a real allergy.

Knowing if you have a true allergy can give you safer and more effective antibiotic options when you need it.

Most rashes are not from an allergy.

Allergies can be outgrown - up to 50% go away after 5 years.

You can get assessed to confirm if you are truly allergic.

Most people do not need invasive tests.

Ask your provider to drop your penicillin allergy label!
Dropthelabel.ca