Webinar 4 – Measuring the Success and Impact of Patient Engagement

May 11, 2022 | 12:00 – 1:00 PM | Zoom

Kira Tozer is a facilitator, project manager and strategic thinker who enjoys bringing clarity to chaos. She is passionate about connecting people and ideas and believes that problems are best solved and systems most improved by the people most affected by them. She currently works as a Strategic Initiatives Leader with the Council's Patient & Public Engagement team.

Kira holds a Master of Public Health from UBC, the PMP designation from the Project Management Institute and has additional training in engagement, quality improvement and facilitation. In her other life, Kira has a background in theatre and animation voice over – which hopefully transfers to being mildly entertaining in webinars.

Janet Bauer has been an active member of the Patient Voices Network for 12 years and has participated in a wide variety of very interesting and rewarding engagements. As a retired Provincial Government employee, she uses her administrative/management skills and her experience as an adult educator in each patient partner role she is a part of. As a patient with chronic conditions and disabilities, she is keen to affect positive change in our healthcare system and sees being a patient partner as the best way to do that.

Janet has a 34 year old daughter, two grand dogs and three grand cats. She lives in Parksville (on Vancouver Island) for six months of the year and in Puerto Vallarta Mexico for the other six. She is grateful to be able to contribute as a patient partner from wherever she is!
