

Low Carbon, High Quality Care: Provincial Summit

January 26, 2023

Together with Vancouver Coastal Health, the BC Patient Safety & Quality Council is pleased to invite you to the Low Carbon, High Quality Care: Provincial Summit, which will take place in Vancouver on Wednesday, April 12, 2023. This session will focus on enhancing high quality clinical care delivery to support reduced greenhouse gas emissions and complement efforts to decarbonize health care operations.

Clinical service delivery within the health system is a large consumer of energy and resources and a major producer of emissions and waste. Accounting for and decreasing the environmental costs to how we deliver care, while providing high quality care, is a necessary step forward to ensure a sustainable health system. Sharing knowledge around low carbon practices through a quality care lens can help support and scale up existing and new efforts to reduce the environmental impact of care.

This Provincial Summit will bring together key partners from across BC to:

- Describe the link between low carbon and high-quality care, as defined by the BC Health Quality Matrix;
- Showcase leading practices, and develop new ideas and actions to advance clinical quality and minimize the environmental impact of care delivery; and
- Inspire efforts, build energy and momentum to address existing challenges and opportunities to improve both clinical care and planetary health.

We ask that you complete the RSVP form by Friday, March 3, 2023 to indicate your attendance. Please let us know if you would like to send a delegate on your behalf or provide us with the name of an important stakeholder who we can extend this invitation to.

We look forward to gathering for a productive dialogue that builds upon and accelerates existing efforts to reduce the environmental impacts of clinical care delivery in the provincial health care system.

Sincerely,

Christina Krause, CEO
BC Patient Safety & Quality Council
